SLAYER OF COUPLE AT UPTON KNOWN; SOLDIER SOUGHT

New Theory Is That Mrs. Harrity, Who Visited Maloney, Was Attacked by Murderer.

A soldier is being sought as the murderer of Mrs. Rose Harrity of No. 29 Fourth Street, Brooklyn, and Private Michael Maloney of the Second Company, Outgoing Cannals, who were slain in the woods a mile to the north of the infantry barracks at Camp Upton at 3:30 o'clock Sunday night. The latest theory is that the motive was not only robbery, but that the murderer attempted an assault on Mrs. Harrity, whose cries brought Maloney to her side, after she had parted from him to go to the train, while he started for his barracks. The woman's assailant turned on her defender and shot him dead. Then, as Mrs. Harrity ran, he followed her, knowing that she would give the alarm. He killed her because she was the only witness to the murder of Maloney. Three sentries saw the murderer as he emerged into the clearing and doubtless will be able to identify him. That he was a soldier has been admitted. There has been nothing said as to his color.

Coroner Moore of Suffolk County declared today that the murderer was known to the military authorities and that his name had been given to him. That Maloney and Mrs. Harrity were victims of a gang feud was today declared untrue by Capt. John Coughlin of the Sixth Branch Detective Bureau of Brooklyn. The "White Hand" gang which was mentioned in connection with the murder, the captain said, had been out of existence for six years.

"The murder was committed by some one in the camp," said Capt. Coughlin.

Maloney's home before he went to Camp Upton in February was with his parents at No. 46 Fourth Street, across the street from the Harrity home. His mother and Mrs. Harrity had been intimate friends for ten or twelve years, and since he has been at Camp Upton the two women made frequent trips there, carrying in him hampers and tobacco and cigarettes.

$500,000 Grain for Allies Lost in Stockyards Fire.

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—The Union Stock Yards here and an elevator containing $500,000 worth of grain for the Allies were destroyed early today by a fire which authorities say was incendiary. Firemen rescued 20,000 animals. Property damage was estimated at $500,000.

Both Ends (Producer and Consumer) Against The Middle (The Packer)

The consumer wants to pay a low price for meat.
 The farmer wants to get a high price for cattle.
 The packer stands between these conflicting demands, and finds it impossible to completely satisfy both.

The packer has no control over the prices of live stock or meat, and the most that can be expected of him is that he keep the difference between the two as low as possible. He does this successfully by converting animals into meat and distributing the meat at a minimum of expense, and at a profit too small to be noticeable in the farmer's returns for live stock or in the meat bill of the consumer.

Swift & Company's 1917 transactions in Cattle were as follows:

	Average Per Head
Sold meat to Retailer for . . . . .	$68.97
Sold By-products for . . . . .	24.09
Total Receipts . . . . .	$93.06
Paid to Cattle Raiser . . . . .	84.45
Balance (not paid to Cattle Raiser) . . . . .	$ 8.61
Paid for labor and expenses at Packing House, Freight on Meat, and Cost of operating Branch distributing houses . . . . .	7.32
Remaining in Packers' hands as returns on investment . . . . .	$ 1.29

The net profit was $1.29 per head, or about one-fourth of a cent per pound of beef.

By what other method can the difference between cattle prices and beef prices be made smaller, and how can the conflicting demands of producer and consumer be better satisfied?
